

I strongly urge your to hold the line on media cross-ownership. we desperately need more voices to be heard, not fewer. If you allow media corporations to consolidate their holdings, funneling the same messages through numerous channels, the American people, wil not have been served in any way that will advance our national life. We need more diversity in coverage, not the erosion of access. We won't get it if a handful of companies control every media outlet. Please do not default on your duty to serve the nation above the interests of powerful corporations. We are watching, and we are not pleased with what we see.
